PRESIDENT USES THE TROWEL

LAYS CORNERSTONE OF MASONIO TEMPLE IN WASHINGTON.

The Trowel Is the One Used by Washington tional Capitol-He Tells the Masons the Way to Become Good Citizens.

WASHINGTON, June 8,-President Roosevelt this afternoon laid the cornerstone of the Masonic Temple in Washington and made an address to the several thousand people who had assembled at the intersection of New York avenue, H and Thirteenth streets to witness the ceremony. The cornerstone laying was made notable not only because of the presence of the President but because of the fact that the trowel which Mr. Roosevelt used was also used by President George Washington when he laid the cornerstone of the United States Capitol. The Bible used in to-day's ceremony also has an historic interest, for it was produced on the occasion of George Washington's initiation into the Masonic

When the President arrived at the site of the proposed Masonic Temple, which is only three blocks from the White House, he entered the grand stand erected on the site and donned a lambskin apron, which is one of the emblems of the order. The United States Marine Band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America," and an address was made by Past Worshipful Master J. H. Small, Jr. After assisting in laying the cornerstone the President spoke

MOST WORSHIPFUL GRAND MASTER, BRETH-REN AND FRIENDS: It is a privilege and a pleasure to take part to-day in the dedication of the new temple. I am sure all of us must appreciate the courtesy of those brethren of other lodges which has rendered it possible to use on this occasion the Bible upon which the great first citizen of this republic, Washington, took the oath when he was made a Masen and the implements which he used as a Mason in laying the cornerstone of the Capitol in this capital city of the nation. Surely there is no place, no other city in the Union, where there should be as fine a Masonio temple as here in Washington, for it is in a sense a national temple where Masons from every jurisdiction gather.

I have but a word to say to you, and that word must always be appropriate in any Masonic meeting where the name of Washington is mentioned. I ask of each Mason, of each member, of each brother, that he shall remember ever that there is upon him a peculiar obligation to show himself in every respect a good citizen; for after all the way in which he can best do his duty by the ancient order to which he belongs is by reflecting credit upon that order by the way in which he performs his duty as a citizen of the United States.

Let me also point out that it is well not to wait for times of unusual crisis before you become a good citizen. Are all of us aware of the temptation to think what a splendid and heroic part we would play if the times de-manded it, while at the same time it is not always easy to do the workaday, humdrum duties of the moment?

I remember down in the village where I live there was a very decent but rather dreamy young fellow, a little bit apt to spend his time in thinking of how exceedingly well he could have led his life under other conditions. His mother was a very hard work-ing woman, and one day he was reading in the paper an account of a fire in New York and the heroic deed of a fireman in rescuing certain people from that burning building. His mother was very busy about the room. Pretty soon he put down the paper and said Pretty soon he put down the paper and said with a sigh: "Oh, how I would like to rescue somebody from a burning building!" His mother answered: "Well, I'll tell you. This building ain't on fire, but if you will get in the kindling wood, I'll be obliged to you."

I think that there is a very good moral lesson for all of us in that. The way to be a good citizen is to be a good neighbor, and first of all a good reighbor to the people in first of all a good neighbor to the people in your wife and children; then to act toward your fellows so that you become the kind of man whom they are glad to have work for them or for whom they are glad to work, or whom they are glad to have live next them or do business with, and then to do each his duty faithfully and decently to the State and to the nation. And in making any address in public it does seem to me that the lesson above all other lessons to be inculcated by every Mason in addressing his brother Mason is that the way to reflect credit upon the ancient and honorable body to which we belong is to make that body, so far as in us lies, an instrument for the upbuilding, the uplifting, the ennobling of the great nation to which we all belong.

Mr. Roosevelt became a member of the Masonic order in 1901, while he was Vice-President of the United States, being initiated at Oyster Bay. He has never taken any additional degree, but is a member of the Blue Lodge,

JIM CROW. CAR CASE.

The First to Come Before the Interstate Commission Under New Rate Law.

WASHINGTON, June 8.-The first Jim Grow car case under the new rate law was argued before the Interstate Commerce Commission to-day. It was a test case brought by Georgia Edwards, a negro woman, of Chattanooga, against the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway. The complainant was represented by William H. H. Hart, a negro lawyer, of Washington, who was formerly an employee of the late William M. Evarts. The railroad company answered through its attorney, John Tye of Atlanta. The rate law went into effect on August 18 and on August 31 Miss Georgia Edwards decided to test the legality of the Jim Crow car in interstate commerce. She purchased a ticket from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Dalton, Ga., and took a seat in the coach reserved for white passengers. When she was ordered out she folded her arms and remarked: "I am an interstate passenger."

After some delay she was ejected from the white coach.

The petition sets up discrimination, but specifies particularly the unequal accommodations, declaring that the Jim Crow coach had compartments with swinging doors, was filthy and dirty and in other ways not the equal of the white folks'

Attorney Hart, for the complainant, directed his argument almost entirely to the illegality of the separation of passengers. He was reminded by Commissional Comm sengers. He was reminded by Commissioner Knapp that the petition did not raise the issue of segregation, but alleged unequal accommodations. The commission reserved its opinion understood that the case will be carried into the courts and the constitu-tionality of the Jim Crow car in interstate commerce tested in the highest courts

MOTORMAN SAVED FROM MOB Which Threatened Him After His Car Ha Killed a Little Girl.

An Eighth street crosstown car yesterday ran down and killed five-year-old Rosie Sanzig almost in front of her home at 341/2 St. Mark's place. The child was standing in the middle of the track with her back to the approaching car. The motorman, Morris Miller of 205 Siegel street, Brooklyn, rang his gong to warn her. She made no attempt to get out of the way. When Miller saw that he was going to hit her he threw on his brake, stopping his car within twenty feet One of the front wheels, however, passed over the little girl's body. In his excitement the motorman reversed the power and the wheel passed over her body again. The girl's mother rushed out, picked up the mangled body and darted up to her apartments. Her shrieks aroused the whole ments. Her shrieks aroused the whole block.

The good natured Saturday crowd changed into an angry mob. Scores of men rushed for Miller and tried to drag him from his platform. Fighting his assailants off with his controller, Miller retreated inside the car and thence to the back platform, where he stood at bay. At this moment a second car arrived carrying plain clothes men Miller and Fein of the Fifth street station. They rushed through the crowd and jumped on the platform beside Miller. At the same time Patrolman McGowan arrived in uniform. Forming a guard around Miller, the three policemen took him to the station, three blocks away, pursued by a howling crowd.

MOVE TO BEAT BOSS BRAYTON

NEW ORGANIZATION OF REPUBLI-CANS IN RHODE ISLAND.

League Announces as Its Purpose the Defeat of the Machine That New Controls Republican Politics in That State -Wetmore Indorsed for the Senate.

PROVIDENCE, June 8.- A movement which aims at the complete reorganization of the Republican party in this State has resulted from the Senatorial fight in the last General

Led by former Speaker of the House Joseph P. Burlingame, ex-Gov. George H. Utter, Alfred M. Coats, Gen. William Ames, Frank A. Sayles, Robert I. Gammell, ex-Gov. Charles Dean Kimball and others equally prominent in the manufacturing and political interests of the State, a new organization has been formed which will be known as the Rhode Island Republican

Its avowed purpose is the defeat of the present machine and the downfall of Boss

The announcement of the new movement was made yesterday and while Gen. Brayton's name is not mentioned in the statement of the league's principles, it is understood that the new organization, while strictly Republican, is yet anti-Brayton and anti-machine, so far as its relation to the present interests in control of the Republican State organization is concerned.

The league favors the election of George Peabody Wetmore to the United States Senate. It declares for the election of Republicans to the next General Assembly who can be relied upon to be independent of any individual's control and who favor Mr. Wetmore for Senator. It asks the support of all Republicans who favor "improved political methods" for the good of the party.

The new movement means that there will be in the fall a struggle within the party to gain control of the State central account to which is now downstand by the party to gain control of the State central committee, which is now dominated by the Brayton-Colt combination, and the present party heads will be deposed in case the movement is successful. Working branches are to be organized in every part of the State. The League will have extensive financial support and it is understood that a substantial campaign fund has already been subscribed.

While the action of the league in indorsing Senator Wetmore again places him squarely

Senator Wetmore again places him squarely in the field as a candidate the effect sought by the organization is more far reaching than the election of a United States Senator. than the election of a United States Senator. If the caucus fight for the State central committee next fall results in the success of the anti-Brayton forces, the Republican boss will certainly lose his position on the executive committee of the State body. Brayton's home is in Warwick and already there are rumors of a stiff fight on the part of President Burlingame of the league and Gen. Walter R. Stiness, Wetmore leader in the Senate, to defeat the boss in his own town.

The league is also out to fight Col. Samuel P. Colt tooth and nail and the fight for the P. Colt tooth and nail and the fight for the United States Senatorship in the next General Assembly promises to be as much of a three cornered contest as it was at the session which has just adjourned; for Col. R. H. I. Goddard has already been nominated as the Democratic-Lincoln party candidate, and Col. Colt has emphatically expressed his determination to see the fight through to the end.

The League has established headquarters

When the outbreak occurred Manager Edward Gerard and Dudley Clement, the treasurer, rushed to the lobby and tried to stay the panic, shouting that there was no fire or danger. The people were so excited that they hurled the men aside. Several women fainted from fright.

At the first cry of fire the asbestos curtain was dropped, but it was raised again and the play continued. In the excitement the boy who caused the trouble escaped. The police are searching for him.

After the play more than a bushel basket full of women's and children's articles of dress, including combs, ribbons, hats and some pocketbooks, was found scattered about the theatre.

The cup remains the property of the trustees, but each winning class holds it for a year and obtains the right to inscribe upon it the class numerals.

Amherst alumni have always been noted for their loyalty and few if any institutions show a bigger turnout on commencement day, but the first competition for the reunion cup broke all the college records and each year since then has shown a steady increase. In 1904 the class of '94 won with a percentage present of 83.5. The next year '80 was the winner with fifty-three men on hand out of a possible seventy-six, while in 1906 the class of '56 made the best showing with twenty-three out of thirty-one members present. The last achievement was considered remarkable considering the age of the class. In the same year the '96 men returned ninety-nine members, the class roll numbering 134.

KLEIN'S CHARGE, R. L. STEINER, WAS FOUND DEAD.

Both Men Got Away From a Sanitarium in Corona, L. I., Early Yesterday-The Keeper Disappeared After Steiner Met Death-Police Are After Him.

William Klein, a keeper in Coombe's private sanitarium in Jackson avenue, Corona, L. I., who it is alleged assisted in the escape of R. L. Steiner, an inmate of that institution, whose body was found lying in Jackson avenue about ten blocks from the sanitarium early vesterday morning, is wanted by the police of Queens. While no evidence has been found to show that Steiner met with foul play, yet it is the opinion of Coroner Ambler and the physicians attached to the sanitarium that the exertion and excitement attending Steiner's escape from the sanitarium were responsible primarily for his death.

The body was discovered by a conductor and motorman on a trolley car bound from Flushing to Long Island City about 6 o'clock yesterday morning. When the police were notified it was learned that Keeper Klein and his special patient, Steiner, had made their way out of the building about 4 o'clock this morning. Getting down the fire escape they emerged into the grounds, and owing to Klein's familiarity with the surroundings they evidently had little diffi-bulty in reaching the roadway. They started in the direction of Long Island City and about a quarter of a mile away Steiner's body was found.

Steiner's body was found.

Steiner was 61 years old, and is said to have been a wealthy manufoaturer living in East 165th street, Manhattan. He had been an inmate of the sanitarium for some been an inmate of the sanitarium for some time. His mental faculties were greatly impaired and it is said that he fancied he controlled unlimited wealth, of which he was being deprived. While Klein acted as a keeper it is said that he also was mentaly weak, and the police believe that Steiner impressed Klein with stories of his great wealth and offered to reward him well if he would aid him in getting away from the sanitarium.

It is said also that Steiner received large sums of money by registered mail, and while the letters which had contained the money, all written in German, were found in his pockets, no money was there. It is not known whether he carried the money with him or whether it was taken care of

with him or whether it was taken care or in the sanitarium.

Steiner's body was removed to an undertaking establishment in Corona, where Dr. P. J. Flynn, Coroner's physician, will make an autopsy.

GUARDING COLLEGE AT TARSUS. Herculean Greek Employed to Keep Off Missionary Turks.

The Rev. T. D. Christie haad of the Amercan College at Tarsus, arr.ved yesterday aboard the Hamburg-American liner Hamburg from the Mediterranean. He has been supervising the construction of a new college building, a Congregational institution, at Tarsus. He had much difficulty keeping workmen on the building, as they were abducted by fanatical Turks. Finally he employed a her culean Greek to keep off the fanatics, and the Greek did the job so well that very few of the laborers disappeared. The American Ambassador to Turkey, John G. A. Leishman, ably seconded the efforts of the colossal Greek guard and now the building is going up without hindrance.

Mr. Christie brought some photographs of the ruins of what is said to be an arch erected by Alexander the Great commemorative of a victory near Tarsus. The talented Poverty Gap gang executed another successful daylight holdup yesterday afternoon, when Leonard Goelz of 131 West Thirty-seventh street, a butcher, employed on the Hamburg-American Line steamship Prinz Joachim, was badly beaten by five men and robbed of $18. This same gang nearly killed an Italian a week ago for 27 cents and beat another one up badly several nights ago without getting a cent.
Goelz left the steamer at the foot of West Twenty-fifth street and walked toward Eleventh avenue. When he passed a lumber yard a youth jumped out, asked him for money and grabbed him by the throat. Goelz knocked him down, where upon he screamed for help and two other men ran out. Both had clubs and they pitched into the butcher. Then two more men ran out and joined in the work of doing up Goelz. It wasn't long before he was thoroughly done up. Then the five took $18 out of his pookets, gave him a final kick, and ran away. several nights ago without getting a cent.

After a time Goelz staggered to his feet and made his way to a nearby drug store, where an ambulance call was sent in. TELEGRAPHERS STILL COMPLAIN. Try Lawson-Guinness' Stout Insist That the Western Union Is Discriminating Against Operators.

According to the officers of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, it is now up to the board of directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company whether or not a strike is declared. They say that according to the reports they receive the present management continues to discriminate against union telegraphers. The officers of the company deny such discrimination exists.

W. G. Edwards, who resigned from the employment of the Western Union company about a week ago because he was not paid the 10 per cent, increase in wages to go into effect on March 1, appeared before the national officers of the union in the Astor House yesterday with another complaint.

He said that after he resigned he went to work in Baltimore, but returned a day or two ago. He said that he applied at the main office for work and was asked to whom he told his story of grievances before he went away. He could not remember and was told that he might get a job in about a month. After he left he said three new men were taken on a job in about a month. After he left he said three new men were taken on.

"This shows," said President Small of the union, "that the managers mean fight, and if they must have a fight, fight we will. It is now for the directors to act."

Word was received yesterday by President Small that the locals in the following cities will have representatives before its

Will Do Away With Many "Line Houses" Used by Smugglers. DERBY, Vt., June 8.—The abolishment of many "line houses" on the boundary of Vermont and Quebeo will be accomplished by the survey now making by boundary commission representing the United States and Canada.

The "line houses," as they are known from the fact that they are directly on the line dividing the United States and Canada, were at one time the source of much trouble to revenue officers on both sides of the border. Smugglers made their headquarters in them and it was difficult to apprehend the men as they had only to transfer the contraband goods from one side of the house to the other in order to cross the line. The surveyors are sinking concrete blocks into the ground with staffs and banners attached to show clearly the revised survey. boundary commission representing the

Boy Killed Under Express Wagon.

Harry Kehlman, a four-year-old bo living at 212 East 113th street, was run over yesterday afternoon by an express wagon and instantly killed. The child was sitting on the curb in front of his home when the wagon, driven by Henry Wehrmann of $15 East Ninety-fifth street, came by close to the curb. The little fellow jumped to his feet, stumbled and fell between the wheels, the rear one passing over him. Wehrmann was arrested and locked up in the East 104th street station. The wagon he was driving belonged to The wagon he was driving belonged to Fred Bartell of 11 Harlem Market.

AMHERST, Mass., June 8.—Amherst men are speculating with considerable interest upon the probability of breaking all the college records this year for the return of alumni at commencement. For the last two years more graduates have come back for the exercises than ever before, and in the opinion of those best qualified to judge of the presentation of the reunion trophy cup held each year by the class which produces in town in commencement week the largest percentage of members. The cup was presented in 1904 to the trustees of the year and obtains the right to inscribe upon it the class numerals.

Amherst alumni have always been noted responsible for the increase in the size of the entering classes.

"I cannot tell you how much new courage your trophy cup has inspired," he said. "The large numbers in the classes returning at commencement and their hearty enthusiasm and loyalty mean everything to our students. A spirit of confidence is awakened. The verdict of those who look back on their college course with the perspective of active life has great weight. It is a stimulus to do their part in keeping up the standards and reputation of old Amherst."
